CAPTURE OF TRAMPS.

A Party Goes After Officers Park
with Bullets—Caught.

Yesterday afternoon Marshal Lehman and Officer Park started out to capture some tramps near Cassell's Hill, and in an alley one of the bums fired several shots at Park. The officers drew their revolvers and one tramp was caught, the one with the revolver getting away. Later the police cornered five tramps in a box car near the Novelty works, and they were placed in jail. Captain Baylor, Officers Ford, Park and Bailey made the arrest. One man in the party had a gun, and nearly every fellow had a new knife. They are regarded as thieves and will be held for investigation.

The State Fair.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 25.—The weather was perfect to day for the state fair and the attendance was up to the average for the second day. About 8,000 people passed the turnstiles and the gate receipts aggregated $2,400. This was soldiers' day, and the veterans assembled upon the grounds in force. The registration book showed that every part of the state and nearly every Illinois regiment was represented. There were no special exercises in connection with the visit of the veterans, but with them the day was one prolonged reunion. The agricultural exhibit was thrown open to the public to day and was constantly thronged with visitors. Thirteen counties are competing for the $250 prize offered by the state board to the counties of the three grand divisions of the state. The work of awarding premiums began in most of the departments to day.

Senator Hill Nominated for Governor of New York.

AFTER REITERATED DECLINATIONS.

Amid Scenes that Beggar Description and Rivalled Pandemonium—His Acceptance Made a Patriotic Duty.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Delegates to the New York democratic state convention began to file into the Rink at a little before 12 o'clock today. The first body to arrive was the Albany phalanx, and they were followed by the New York state democracy, their purple badges with gold fringe making them conspicuous as they gathered in the south end of the rink, where a place had been reserved for them. The Tammany people did not come as a body. They took seats near the center of the hall.

When nominations for governor were declared to be in order, the chairman (Senator Hill) recognized Galen R. Hitt, of Albany, who put in nomination the name of John Boyd Thatcher.

Senator David B. Hill.

When Mr. Hitt had finished, Eldyn Reynolds, of Allegheny, arose and said: "The united delegation of Allegheny county desires to place in nomination their first and only choice, David B. Hill."

This was all he had time to say.
The crowd went wild with enthusiasm.
Men stood on their seats and waved their hats for three minutes.

Senator Hill pounded with the gavel.
Finally Col. Fellows, of New York, arose, and the crowd, thinking that he would say something about Hill, subsided.

Senator Hill then asking the indulgence of Col. Fellows said: "I am grateful to the democrats of the Empire state for the courtesy and kindness of the past; but I must say to you I cannot agree to be your candidate again for governor."

Col. Fellows then moved that the roll be called alphabetically. This was proceeded with, and Livingston Montgomery named Hill amid cheers.

Sensor Guy rose when New York was called and, standing on a chair, said "Mr. Chairman, I rise to perform a duty which I have waited for some older democrat from this county to perform. I am about to name for governor a man, the mention of whose name warms the heart of every true democrat. He must be our candidate.

He is the only man with whom we are sure of winning. He is the chief democrat in our ranks. He must sink his personal views and again become our standard-bearer. We need his services now, and we must demand that he give them to us and consent to lead us on to victory. The situation is grave.
The only thing for this convention to do is to assert that we know the meaning of the term "I am a democrat," and knowing, should proceed to nominate that prince of leaders who presides over our deliberations. He has told us that he cannot accept our nomination. But I tell you, gentlemen, we owe a courtesy to the democracy of the state which is higher than the courtesy which we owe to him. I nominate the one man who they profess is no democrat. I nominate David B. Hill.
[Cheers.]

After Senator Guy had finished, Bourke Cockran, of New York, arose by climbing over the reporters' table to the platform and said in part:
"When the life of a nation is at stake and the laws which govern its existence fail to control its destinies the supreme will of the people is the only resort. At such times the right of revolution is invoked. Such a time has come to us. For the first time since the senior senator directed the affairs of the democratic party of this state I am in revolt against his ruling. I urge upon him his sense of duty to his party and place his name in nomination against his own desires. There comes a time in the history of every man when opportunities arise which summon him to positions outside of his desires. We are in a situation to meet which requires the most trusted leaders of the democratic party, or we cannot go on to victory.
We are confronted with a paralysis of industries due to the operation of republican tariff and financial legislation. It is our duty to prove to the people that the misfortune which has overtaken the country is due to republican misrule and that prosperity can be restored by following our lead and placing our candidates in power.
We must not take the risk of failing, and no man who has led us as our presiding officer has led us will allow us to go forth without the inspiring influence of his leadership. [Cheers.]

"By all the ties that have bound him in the past, by his hopes of the future, by his duty to his country, I demand that he lead us, and I will make him for governor." [Prolonged cheers.] Mr. Cockran then put the question to the convention: "Will you make the nomination unanimous?"

Everyone in the hall, delegates, spectators and all yelled "Aye."
Turning to Senator Hill, Mr. Cock-ran then said: "Senator Hill, we summon you to your duty."

Col. W. A. Brown also spoke, seconding the nomination of Senator Hill, of New York. Half a dozen delegates moved to suspend the roll-call for nominations, but Senator Hill quickly remarked that he had had some experience with legislative bodies, and the rules of the assembly under which the convention was acting would not permit the suspension of the roll call and directed the secretary to proceed.

The counties of Oneida, Orange, Oswego, Queens, Rockland, St. Lawrence, Schoharie, Stuben, Suffolk, Tompkins, Wayne, Westchester and Yates, all seconded Mr. Hill's nomination.

Galen R. Hitt, of Albany, then withdrew the nomination of Mr. Thatcher.

This was a signal for another shout of applause. In the midst of it all Senator Jacob A. Canter shouted that as Albany had withdrawn her candidate there was but one name before the convention, and he urged that David B. Hill be nominated by acclamation.

Secretary Charles R. DeFreest put the question. The calls of "Aye" shook the rafters, and there were no
"Noes." DeFreest declared Senator Hill nominated, and delegates and spectators cheered and threw their hats in the air. Senator Hill stood calmly, impassively in his place, ignored the will of the convention for the second time, and bringing his gavel down with a resounding whack, declared the delegates and their spontaneous proceedings out of order.

Mayor Gilroy, Bourke Cockran, James W. Hineckley and other prominent leaders climbed upon the platform and urged Senator Hill to accept. He still refused to recognize the unparliamentary methods of the delegates.
Then Mayor Gilroy got a chance to say a word to the convention. He said:

"I only desire to say that there has been no question that it is the unanimous desire of this convention that David B. Hill carry the democratic standard, and he has never yet refused to obey the demands of his party. There can be no doubt now if he is nominated properly he will accept. [Cheers.] We should, however, proceed deliberately, so that there can be no charge that this convention was stampeded for any man."

This had a pacifying effect, and the roll-call of counties on the ballot for governor was proceeded with.

When the roll call was ended, Secretary DeFreest announced in his ponderous tones: "The ballot shows that 383 votes have been cast, and all were for David B. Hill. For the second time I declare him nominated unanimously."

That settled it. Pandemonium broke loose. Delegates climbed over tables and chairs and upon the platform.
They congratulated the presiding officer, and would hardly refrain when he pounded with his gavel for order.

A motion was made and carried to proceed with nominations for lieutenant governor.

Congressman Daniel H. Lockwood was nominated by acclamation for lieutenant governor, as was Judge Gaynor for judge of the court of appeals.

After transacting some other business on state matters the convention, at 8:45 o'clock, adjourned sine die.

BETWEEN David B. Hill and Queen Lil the nightmare still haunts the sugar of Buzzard's Bay.

THE sugar trust's contribution to the Democratic campaign fund will not save the party this year.

THE only trust the Democratic congress has not disregarded is the sugar trust and the whisky trust.

THE New York Democracy has nominated by acclamation for governor one of the senatorial Judas Iscariots—the same is David B. Hill.

DAVID B. HILL voted against the Democratic tariff bill, and Grover Cleveland wrote against it. Hill has been endorsed by the New York Democracy, and Grover by the Illinois Democracy.

THE recent attempts to carry out general strikes in industries which produce or distribute necessities of life, says President Eliot, of Harvard, in the October Forum, have demonstrated that society will not endure a suspension of labor in such industries for more than a few days.

WHEN David B. Hill took the platform in the Democratic convention in New York as temporary presiding officer the convention cheered him for five minutes. In Illinois, Owen Scott, Springer and MacVeagh speak of Hill as one of the Judas Iscariots of the senate. This is a fine sample of Democratic consistency. It is the same old duplicity to deceive voters.

GOVERNOR ALTGELD has appealed to the state board of equalization to raise Pullman's assessment. That's all right if the assessment is not high enough. Now if Pullman will appear before the state board and insist that Altgeld's assessment on his Chicago property is raised to where it ought to be the result may be that some other peoples taxes may be lowered.

DEMOCRATIC papers are citing their readers to the opening of American mills, whenever they occur, as an evidence of the benefits of the new tariff law; but we look in vain in any of these notices for the cold fact that wherever a mill resumes work it is done by reducing the wages of the employees. Low tariffs mean low wages. This every Democratic leader knows, but it is this fact that one and all of them refuses to confess.

THE farmers in the states bordering on Canada are beginning to feel the effects of the new tariff law which lowers the duties by 50 per cent on Canadian farm products. Every dollar's worth of farm products that is imported to this country closes our own market to that amount of American farm produce, and while such a policy is in operation the American farmer is taken just the same while the Canadian farmer does not pay any tax to support our government.

A LONDON paper estimates that the opening of the American market to English manufacturers, by the new tariff bill, will benefit the English trade 8 per cent. Of course this will injure American production by the same amount. It is for that reason that Chairman Wilson, who is the representative of this favorable legislation for England, is being banqueted in London. He would receive the same attention in Germany and France were he to visit those countries. When he visited Mexico last summer, he was given like ovations, and he and his party are entitled to this recognition from nations which are our competitors for the legislation that injures America and helps its competitors.

THE assumption of the Democratic campaigners that the tariff of 40 per cent on sugar will not raise the price to the consumer, is probably as ridiculous as anything these campaigners have ever attempted. A tariff on sugar is purely a revenue tariff. It has not even the elements of incidental protection, it, as we have seen, does not produce sugar in quantities large enough to create competition either at home or with the imported article. If, as these demagogues assume, the tariff on sugar will not raise the price of sugar, how do they expect to reduce the price of imported goods, the like of which we have produced in competing quantities, by reducing the tariff or putting them on the free list, as they claim will be the result of the lower duties in the new tariff bill? They either lie in one instance or the other, with the chances they are lying in both instances.

More for the Sugar Trust.

Governor McKinley in his speech at Indianapolis surprised his audience by uncovering another Democratic deal with the sugar trust by which that outfit will net more money from the provisions of the tariff bill than had before been reported. He said:

The sugar schedule of the law (Schedule E) in effect provides for a continuation of the treaty of 1875, made with the King of the Hawaiian Islands, under which all sugar from those islands was and is under the law of 1894 admitted free. The language of the schedule quoted is:

"Provided further, that nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to abrogate or in any manner impair or affect the provisions of the treaty of commercial reciprocity concluded between the United States and the King of the said islands the 30th day of January, 1875, or the provisions of any act of congress, heretofore passed for the execution of the same."

This provision was inserted in the law by the senate. It gives to the great sugar trust an advantage which has not heretofore been suspected. The sugar producers of the Hawaiian Islands are under the control of the sugar trust; that country is the field of its primary operations. The Democratic party took away from the sugar raisers of the United States the bounty of $10,000,000 a year and bestowed a bounty of $5,000,000 a year on the sugar producers of the Hawaiian Islands, giving them a advantage over not only the sugar producers of the United States but of the whole world outside of those islands.

The sugar producer of the Sandwich Islands profits by the tariff of 40 per cent, while upon all other sugars that 10 per cent goes into the Treasury of the United States. I do not question, my fellow-citizens, nor discuss, the propriety of maintaining that treaty inviolate. But there were other treaties made by the Government of the United States twice as good. When we made the tariff law of 1890 and took away all the tariff from sugar we gave to the cane producers and the beet producers a bounty equivalent to the tariff, and we said in that law that that bounty should stand for 15 years. That is all wiped out by the law of 1894. Not even the bounty of this year is given to the crop that has already been supervised by the government of the United States. By this law this is taken from the sugar producers of the country. What is there more sacred in a reciprocity treaty with a foreign country than in a solemn contract made with our own citizens.

New York's Constitutional Convention.

New York Evening Post: Among the constitutional amendments which have been adopted there is none of greater importance than that which extends the period of citizenship necessary for exercising the franchise from ten to ninety days preceding an election. This will have a powerful effect in putting a check to fraudulent naturalization, if it does not abolish it entirely. The Tammany workers will not bestir themselves to get either honest or fraudulent naturalization for a man who may be in another part of the country when election day comes around, or who may vote for some other party. The result will be that naturalization will be mainly a voluntary act on the part of foreign-born residents, and will be honestly conferred.

A Frank Democrat.

In conversation with a Decatur business man yesterday, a gentleman who has always voted the Democratic tickets frankly stated that he was never so anxious for election day to come as he is this year. He is done with the Democrats and will vote the straight Republican ticket. That's the way lots of voters feel just now and the grand army is gaining recruits every day.

THE HORSE'S LEGS.

A Useful Animal Treatise, by Prof. Wm. M. Russell.

It is difficult to understand how the legs of horses stand the wear and tear of work in our great cities, where every step of their iron shod hoofs is upon a hard, unyielding road. There is no other creature living, with the exception of the donkey or mule, which can long bear the constant battering entailed by rapid locomotion on a paved surface. But if we look at the structure of the horse's legs, we see how it is that the jar and vibration do not injure him more. His "pasterns," the part just above the hoof, yield a little at each step, and so break the force of the concussion. He is, in fact, mounted on springs. This is one chief reason why he is a pleasant animal to ride. Anyone who has tried riding a cow or ox has found the difference between the easy, elastic movements of the horse and the jolting and joggling of a horned mount.

Again, wild beasts of ancient date further explain the fact for us. The herds of wild horses had to travel far and fast, for dear life, over rock-strewn deserts, both when in search of food and when pursued by their hereditary foes. It was necessary, in habitually traversing hard and stony plains for many hours at a stretch, to have strong hoofs, and legs which would both stand wear and tear and at the same time save the body from injurious effects of the constant jar and concussion. The importance of this can be judged by those who have ridden both a cushioned cycle and an old-fashioned "bone-shaker." Vibration is always more exhausting to the body. The reason why a pneumatic-tired sulky is worth several seconds in the mile to a trotter is not so much because it of lighter draught, but because practically no vibration is conveyed along the shafts and traces to the horse's body. Ever so little vibration will weary his muscles and hamper his movements to a certain extent.—North American Review.

AN ANCIENT MYTH.

It Says That Humanity Descended From a Tree.

The descent of the human race from some particular species of tree is one of the oldest myths that can be found running through the folk stories of every nation. In Virgil we find reference to the race of "men who took their birth from trunks of trees," and among some of the early commentators on that statement we even find speculations as to the particular species of tree from which the race sprung. The very earliest Egyptians, as well as those who lived under later dynasties, had a legend of the "Tree of Life," and many of the leading investigators, both ancient and modern, have expressed the opinion that from Egypt came the biblical story of the "Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil" which graced the original garden made by the All-Wise for our first parents.

Prof. Thirlston (see his Folk Lore of Plants) believes that the scriptural narrative itself is a survival of the belief in the "Tree Descent of Man," and that the abiding faith of mankind in the tradition again crops out in Revelations, where the "Tree of Life" plays as important a part as that of the famous tree mentioned in the first book of the Bible. The natives of Madagascar have a tradition which is believed to be perpetuated among them to the effect that the first man was born alive from a tree, and that he immediately set about making himself a "helpmeet," fashioning her from a knotted limb by the aid of a mussel shell carving-knife! Marsden's History of Sumatra tells us that the people of the Philippine Islands also have the tree-descent legend among them, and King, in his Life Among the Bushmen of Australia, says that the people there habitually live among the trees, because "they are taught from infancy that their early ancestors were trees endowed with the faculty of speaking and moving about from place to place."—St. Louis Republic.

FASHIONS IN PETTICOATS.

Care Taken to Secure Perfect Fit—Black for Travelling.

A flannel petticoat is certainly a mundane thing, and yet even flannel petticoats have a fashion of their own. Time was when hand embroidery on flannel must be had and elaborate work put on even coarse material. Now embroidered flannel is generally relegated to children's wear, and only a tiny fancy edge is used to finish the narrow ruffles, which are invariably trimmed with lace.

Physicians and would-be critics may inveigh against small hips and waist, but there is yet to be found the woman who will not endeavor to look as small as possible, particularly as she grows older, so that the greatest attention is paid to every undergarment, not only that it should be tasteful and costly, but also that it should be made to enhance or disguise the figure. Yokes are necessities in petticoats.

Flannel petticoats should not reach below the knees, and should be carefully cut. A good pattern is to have a wide back breadth cut across, and a full piece joined thereto. The side pieces, of course, must be gored.

Lace insertion—one or two rows alone—one or more narrow flounces edged with lace, always looks well. Light blue and light pink are the favorite colors, although some women prefer white.

I have seen black flannel petticoats, and as some women always wear black undergarments in traveling, these black petticoats are used for that purpose. They were certainly pretty, for they were well cut and made and had ruffles of lace and of Valenciennes lace, with broad black bands of ribbon attached on all sides.

—The price of these petticoats is 75c.

MARRIAGE AT MAROA.

Clarence Sigler and Miss Lida Phares at the Altar.
The happy marriage of Mr. Clarence Sigler and Miss Lida Phares was solemnized on the evening of September 28th at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Phares, near Maroa.
The officiating clergyman was Rev.
Stevenson, assisted by Rev. Waterbury.
The couple will begin housekeeping at Maroa at once. There the groom, who was lately a popular salesman at the Linn & Scruggs store, is engaged in the boot and shoe business.
All of his many Decatur friends join the Republican in wishing "Sig" unlimited happiness and prosperity. The bride is a daughter of one of the leading farmers of Maroa township.

Ward and Vokes.

Ward and Vokes, without a doubt, two of the funniest men on the American stage, will appear at the Grand Tuesday evening, Oct. 2, as Percy Harold in their new farce-comedy, entitled "A Run on the Bank." Ward and Vokes will be supported by a company second to none, and will number twenty-two persons in all. The costumes will be the finest, all from Paris, costing $10,000 and the scenery all new,
which will require a car to carry same.
As for the play, it is one of the best and funniest ever written. The author does not class his skirts among the comedies of the farces, and does not even raise them to the dignity of plays, broad as that term is. He calls "A Run on the Bank," for instance, an "invasion of the drama," an unassuming effort to present a few character sketches in an amusing form, which will express the nature of the entertainment. There is a sort of plot to connect or introduce the efforts of merriment, but after one leaves the theater with sides aching from laughter he remembers nothing of the story, though he has a vivid recollection of Percy and Harold's antics and "nerve."

Got Money and Passes.

Last night at 10:15 o'clock, having just returned from Springfield with his wife, Hon. John K. Warren fell among pick pockets in the crowd and was robbed of his pocketbook, $35 in cash, a promissory note for $800, and several annual railway passes. Mr. Warren had gone to the Toledo train to assist a lady into a car, and while near the car a half dozen men crowded and jostled him, taking the valuables before the sudden squeeze ended. Mr. Warren felt his pocket book going and instantly tried to find an officer, but there was none in sight at the time, Officer Koeppe being off duty because of illness. The train was held five minutes, when Mr. Warren and Officer Park got aboard hoping to catch the thief. The attempt was a failure.

Ordination Services.

On Friday evening of this week J. A.
Leas, pastor of the First English Lutheran church, of Goshen, Ind., will be solemnly ordained to the office of the holy ministry in the English Lutheran church of this city. The ordination sermon will be delivered by Rev. M. L.
Wagner, who will also perform the act of ordination, assisted by Rev. A. W.
Walter. The public are cordially invited to attend. The services will begin at 7:45 p. m.

More Enthusiasm.

Congressman Lane, who is the Democratic candidate for re-election in the 18th district, which includes Monticello county, was billed to speak at Lake City yesterday afternoon and although the township is Democratic by 25 or more, not enough people appeared to warrant making a speech, and Mr. Lane left without addressing his constituents.

OHIO VETERANS.

Those Living in Illinois will Hold a Reunion in Decatur.
The Ohio Veteran Association of Illinois will hold its fifth annual reunion at Decatur, Ill., Wednesday and Thursday, October 3 and 4, 1894. All Ohio regiments in the war of 1861-5 have representatives residing in this state. All ex-soldiers, from whatever state, and all friends of the Union soldier are cordially invited to come to this reunion.

Some of the best speakers of Ohio have promised to be present and address their comrades on both days, and on Wednesday night there will be a camp-fire. The headquarters will be at the St. Nicholas hotel, where all Ohio ex-soldiers will register and receive their badges. The first business meeting will be held at 2 o'clock p. m., on Wednesday Dunham post, G. A. R., has promised to furnish the program of entertainment. A rate of one and one-third fare has been granted by all railroads centering in Decatur. Among the old Ohio veterans in this vicinity who are on the various committees are E. M.
Hamilton, Bloomington; B. H. Robinson, Fairbury; W. A. Corwin of Lincoln; G. F. Rhoades of Monticello; Sol R.
Smith, of Lincoln; J. M. Clokey of Decatur; J. L. DeLong of Chatsworth.
Gen. Horace Clark of Mattoon is president and N. Patterson of Mansfield is secretary.

Hanlon's Superba.

The brilliant, gorgeous and highly colored spectacle, "Superba," with its pretty girls, comic, clean, bewildering stage pictures and all that goes to make up the best spectacular trick production of the age, will be at the Powers opera house, Friday and Saturday nights. "Su-perba" is the pride of the Hanlon Brothers. The entertainment upon which for the past two years all their time and thought has been lavished, and they expect to give it most of their time and attention for several seasons to come.

Trying to Escape.

"The state of Colorado is a state of irrigation." "The state of Nebraska is a state of starvation and with this state of Democratic administration we are going to Illinois to our wife's relations."
The above was seen on a man's wagon on his return from the west.

To Study Medicine.

Julius Westerman, of Lincoln, Neb., formerly of this city, who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. Charles Gehring, left for New York yesterday to continue his course at the University Medical college. He will take his second course of lectures this year.

IT MIGHT HAVE BEEN WORSE.

Senators from Washington Win as They Please from the Decatur Team.

About five hundred people were at Athletic Park Wednesday afternoon to see the Washington League team play an exhibition game with the J. D.
Moore club. It was easy for the visitors from start to finish, the score being 23 to 4 in favor of the senators. It might have been worse. The chief attraction of such a game is to see the professionals hit the ball and run bases, and to observe how a high salaried team will play the national game. It will not do to expect too much of the home team in such contests. Decatur did not expect to win. At the start it was a question whether or not the Moores would be shut out, and when it was demonstrated that the home club could get runs even if they were outclassed and playing with a league team the crowd was satisfied, and felt good. The score was:

Wood pulp has been put to many uses, but the most extraordinary is in adulterating woolen yarn. A way of spinning the pulp has been discovered, and the product can be combined with wool in making yarn, in the proportion of one part of wood to two parts of wool. Much of this composite yarn is said to have been made into hosiery, and few complaints as to wear have been received.

What Hill Said in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 26.—Now that Senator Hill has been nominated for Governor of New York, Democrats everywhere will proclaim his invincibility. It is interesting to turn to Hill himself for an unbiased opinion of his chances. During the debate on the tariff bill, April 9th, Senator Hill in denouncing the income tax said:

Let those who insist upon injecting into this bill this odious and un-democratic feature of an income tax—a relic of war legislation—pause and reflect upon the possible consequences of their unwarlike demands. They should realize that it means the loss of the control of this Senate, now nearly equally divided between the two great parties. It means the loss of the next House of Representatives. It means the loss of the electoral votes of New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, and probably every Northern State. Finally it means the loss of the next Presidency and all that it implies.

CORRECT OFFICIAL REPORT

Of the Battle of the Yalu River Fought by the Japanese Legation.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The Japanese legation is in receipt of the first correct report of the battle of the Yalu river which has yet been made and which corroborates the graphic story of the engagement cabled to the United Press from Tokio. The dispatch containing the official intelligence is as follows:

"On September 17 our fleet, consisting of the Matsushima, Itsukushima, Hashidate, Yoshino, Naniwa, Takachiho, Akitsushima, Chiyoda, Hiei, Fuso, Akagi and Sakishima-Maru, met off the northeast coast of Hai Yang Tao with the Chinese fleet, consisting of the Ting Yuen, Chen Yuen, Ching Yuen, Chi Yuen, Lai Yuen, King Yuen, Wi Yuen, Yang Wei, Chao Yuen, Kwang Hai, Kwang Ting, Ping Yuen and two other men-of-war, together with six torpedo boats, which opened fire at 12:45, and consequently a severe engagement ensued which lasted until 5 p. m.

"At last four of the enemy's men-of-war, the Lai Yuen, Chin Yuen, Yang Wei and the Chao Yuen were sunk, and the Ting Yuen, King Yuen, and Ping Yuen caught fire, and all of the remaining ships, being seriously damaged, were scattered. On our side more or less damage was sustained by the Matsushima, Hiei and Akagi, but fortunately none was disabled. The killed on our side were Sakamoto, the commander of the Akagi, six lieutenants and about thirty non-commissioned officers and men. The number of wounded was 160.

THE ASHLAND DISTRICT.

Judge Denny Nominated in Opposition to W. C. Owens.—Will be supported by Breckinridge Men.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 27.—By a unanimous vote and without any opponent Judge George Denny, Jr., of Lexington, was made the nominee of the republican party for congress by the district convention held here yesterday afternoon. Scattered through the convention hall were numerous democrats who had supported Breckinridge in the late democratic primary, and the interest they took in the proceedings made them the observed of all observers.

Judge Denny's speech pleased the Breckinridge men immensely as it did the majority of the republicans, but the Owens men are very sore and are considerably frightened over the universal approval with which it has been met by the Breckinridge men. While the judge cannot hope to poll all the Breckinridge votes, he will undoubtedly get a great many of them.

MATCH FOR CORBETT

Fitzsimmons Earns the Right to Face Him

AND GIVE HIM THE BATTLE OF HIS LIFE

Having Approved His Prowess by Knocking Dan Creedon Out in the Second Round in the Mill at New Orleans Last Night

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 27.—Heavyweight Champion James J. Corbett will now have no chance to reject a challenge from Fitzsimmons, as the invincible middle-weight champion has complied with every reasonable request made by Corbett, and fulfilled the last requirement exacted by knocking Dan Creedon senseless in four minutes and forty seconds. The fight attracted the representative sporting men from all over the country, and the big arena of the Olympic club was packed to its full capacity. The crowd was strong for Fitzsimmons, and it almost appeared as though the Creedon supporters were among the contingent that came with him from the Mount City.

The fight was regarded as one of the grandest exhibitions of the prize ring, and while the great majority looked for Fitzsimmons' success it was thought that the fight would last much longer than the round and a half. Fitzsimmons, himself, was the only man who felt sure of a short fight. He made a wagger last evening of a champagne supper on his knocking Creedon cold in less than three rounds. Fitzsimmons has never boasted of how quick the fight would be terminated, but a Creedon man got hot onto him, and his bet was called. Fitzsimmons has frequently asserted that he would challenge Corbett from the ring over the inanimate body of Creedon, and he was prepared to fulfill that declaration.

The fist has gone forth, and Corbett has received the intelligence which he was anxiously awaiting; but it was entirely foreign to which he had hoped and prayed for. It is the belief of the multitude in the Crescent City that Fitzsimmons can whip Corbett, and the latter will carry a fortune from the city if he whips lanky Bob.

The spectators of the fight last night were favorably impressed with Creedon on account of his gameness in coming up for his punishment, but as a matter of fact he could not get out of Fitzsimmons' way. Fitzsimmons had him dazed in the first and the sound of the gong saved him from a most humiliating defeat. It would not have been so humiliating had it not been that Creedon has frequently boasted of his having hunted Fitzsimmons for a fight and the latter tried to evade him.

Creedon attempted to get in for close fighting, only to have his head jammed from one side to the other by Bob's right and left gloves, which had a most distressing effect on his senses. He got one good right-hand punch over the kidneys on the left side, but Fitzsimmons laughed at him and began to pound him for keeps.

Fitzsimmons was smiling throughout the fight, and was very cool and easy about his work, yet at the same time he was quick as lightning in landing his blows. After the men had retired to their rooms Creedon was seen, and his upper lip on the right side was split for half an inch. In reply to a question as to what chance Fitzsimmons would have against Corbett, he replied: "About as much as I had with him."

Col. Hopkins is a very heavy looser on the fight, but he said he was satisfied as Creedon showed up dead game. Fitzsimmons stated that it was his personal request that Jack Dempsey second him in the contest and he was glad to have the services of the "Nonpareil." He said he and Dempsey had never been at loggerheads, and he hoped they never would be. Fitzsimmons did not bear a single mark to indicate that he been in a go, and was as fresh as when he first entered the ring.

FIGHT WITH REDSKINS

In which the Whites were Victorious—Three Indians Killed.

WICHITA, Kan., Sept. 27.—A story comes from the Cheyenne country, about fifty miles west of Hennessey, Okla., that a fierce battle was fought there Tuesday between whites and redskins, during which Ralph Eastman and William McKinley, two cowboys, were seriously wounded and three Indians were killed.

The Indians have been raiding the herds of the white ranchers for some time, and a band of red thieves with stolen cattle in their possession were overtaken Tuesday and the fight followed. The cattlemen are said to be calling in all the cowboys they can muster with a view to punishing the Indians in a way that will be remembered.

SHE WAS POISONED.

And Her Husband is Held by the Coroner's Jury as the Murderer.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 27.—The coroner's verdict in the Kemper case is to the effect that the deceased came to her death by poison, administered by her husband, Jeff Kemper, a well-to-do farmer living near Goodlettsville. Strayhine was found in the stomach. The claim of the defense is suicide.

THE EXPECTED TORNADO

From the West Indies Strikes Florida—Dug Immense Damage.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 26.—The expected hurricane from the West Indies struck Jacksonville at 11 a.m., with the wind blowing at a velocity of forty-six miles per hour and rain pouring down in torrents. Business is absolutely paralyzed. The Everett hotel, the largest in the city, is unroofed and flooded with water. The unfinished Union depot is blown down. The loss is $30,000, and a number of people are injured, but none killed. There is no communication from South Florida, but it is expected that many Indian river orange groves are totally ruined and that orange crops are damaged beyond calculation. The streets of Jacksonville are flooded. The river is three feet above the normal. The wind at the mouth of the river recorded sixty miles an hour. Mayport river at its mouth is flooded and several houses are inundated. No trains are arriving or departing. Many large washouts are reported.

MAY EXCEED IN VIOLENCE THE CYCLONE OF 1893.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 26.—Everything now points to the storm equaling if it does not exceed in violence the fearfully destructive cyclone of August, 1893. At Tybee the wind rages as high as seventy-five miles an hour. At low tide to-day the water there was higher than at the highest tide. The ocean is steadily encroaching on the island, and it is thought that by night it will be completely submerged. Those on the island will have to take refuge in the lighthouse and Martello tower. The hotels and cottages appear to be doomed, as the wind in Savannah is now as high as forty-five miles and steadily increasing in velocity. The outlook is very bad.

The Storm Increasing in Violence.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 26.—The storm is increasing in violence. The barometer is still falling, and the wind at Tybee island has attained a velocity of seventy-five miles an hour. Officers have gone down to quarantine to inspect the damage. It is feared that the quarantine station will be entirely destroyed. It is believed there has been a large loss of life at Sea islands.

Wholesale Arrests of Literary Men.

An Apparent Divorce Recommended.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Referee Edward Jacobs filed in the superior court yesterday morning a report in which he recommended that Kuehne Beveridge and Corbitt be granted an absolute divorce from Chas. F. Coglian, the actor.

ARMED AND READY.

Is the Situation in the Tax War in Kentucky.

THE SHERIFF WITH A SMALL ARMY

Ready to Begin Executing the Mandates of the Court, and the Tax-Payers, Armed to the Teeth, Determined to Resist.

STURGIS, Ky., Sept. 27.—The situation in the tax precincts is unchanged. Although grave, the situation is not as serious as some reports have painted it to be. Capt. Blackwell is at Uniontown with close to 100 armed deputies, provisions, ammunition, etc. As he has received his copy of the tax books, there seems to be nothing for him to do but to move. On the other hand the taxpayers are armed and ready, although no public demonstration is being made.

There has been no public display of arms, neither has there been any wholesale arming of the citizens, but 1,000 or 1,500 armed men could be mustered in a few hours. Capt. Blackwell's stronghold, and which has been painted as a veritable post, is a five-acre stump field, surrounded by a four-foot paling fence.

The citizens are acting on the defensive, and will not fight except in the last extremity. Business is practically suspended, and the farmers spend their time in town, holding secret meetings.

When Capt. Blackwell makes the attempt, which he no doubt will, there may be a reign of blood, and no one over witnessed in Kentucky. Blackwell is constantly in communication with Col. John Feland, the attorney for the bondholders. It is thought by some that Feland is using Blackwell as a bluff to make the people compromise. There seems to be no desire this time among the people to compromise, as they have already offered four compromises and were laughed at, and they now propose to pay nothing.

THE CONTEMPT CASES.

May Be Thrown Out of Court by United States Judge of Appeals Harlan.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—If counsel for the defense in the American Railway union contempt cases shall decide to argue the question of jurisdiction before Justice Harlan in the United States court of appeals, which convenes next week, action may be taken there which may throw out of court the whole proceeding against Dobs and his associates. The defendants have taken an appeal from the Woods-Groves injunction, but in this appeal have not taken up the question of jurisdiction, which Judge Woods now suggests they do.

E. A. Bancroft finished his argument yesterday morning. He was followed by C. S. Darrow who opened for the defendants, and he was followed by Mauritz Rosenthal for the government.

Mr. Darrow continued his speech when court reconvened in the afternoon, confining himself to the legal aspect. He contended that the federal courts had no jurisdiction under the precedents furnished by courts of chancery. "As to the interstate commerce law of 1887," Mr. Darrow said, "it was never intended to control the actions of strikers, but was designed to put certain restraints on railroads, and the railroads," said he, "now come into court and use a law which was intended to restrain railroads as an engine for oppression against my clients. It is evident this was not the purpose of the act."

The question of whether the injunction would be void in case the court should decide that it was in error in issuing it was discussed at length between Judge Woods and the speaker, on suggestion of the former. Mr. Darrow arguing that all injunctions would necessarily be void. He then continued:

"From my point, it is just as necessary for labor to combine as for capital. The remedy they have is to strike, and I assume that any combination they form with that end in view is legal. I hope that this court will not decide that it has jurisdiction in this case, for that would be only to give unlimited powers to other courts."

In concluding, he condemned the action of President Cleveland in calling out troops, calling it an invasion of state rights.

When Mr. Darrow had finished, Judge Woods stated that he hoped counsel would argue the question of jurisdiction before the court of appeals, which will be in session next week. He had noticed that counsel for the defense had filed briefs in this case with the appellate court. If the appellate court decided that the circuit court had no jurisdiction that would settle the case so far as he (Judge Woods) was concerned. Court adjourned until to-morrow.

TWO MORE DEAD.

Making Six Deaths as the Result of the Thrashing Engine Boiler Explosion.

CRYSTAL N. D., Sept. 27.—In addition to the four men who were killed by the explosion of the boiler of a thrashing engine on William Cain's place, Tuesday, Charles Shepard, of Souris, Man., and Alexander Proulx, of Crystal, have since died. Each leaves a wife and five children. Wallace Getty, of Ashland, Wis., had his skull fractured and may die. Of the crew six are dead.

Train Robbers Detour off by the Train Crew.

GALVESTON, Tex., Sept. 26.—The Santa Fe train which arrived this morning, was held up at a water tank near Tule, Tex. Two men forced the engineer and fireman to leave their posts. The men drove the robbers away before they could do any damage.

CAVEN'S DOUBLE LIFE.

What the Investigation of His Sad Death by the Police May Lead To.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 26.—Investigation by detectives and newspaper men during the past thirty-six hours has developed the fact that J. B. Caven, the general agent of the Valley railway, who was murdered Tuesday, led a dual life. His family and friends believed that he was a man of high morals, and great surprise was expressed at the finding of his mutilated body in one of the most questionable parts of the city.

The developments show that Caven was by no means a stranger in what is known as the tenderloin district, several persons having been found who have seen him there at night frequently. He is now known to have had a mistress, several months ago, on a shady street not far from where his body was found. The woman has disappeared, and the police are looking for her. There is no doubt that there was a woman in the case, and the police are working on the theory that Caven was murdered by a jealous husband or lover.

The body of the murdered man was taken to Pittsburgh for burial, yesterday, in a special car.

LAW AND ORDER

To Be Enforced in Pittsburgh by a Vigilance League.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 27.—The new law and order society, which is to be known as the Allegheny County Vigilance league, has perfected its organization and is ready for business. A constitution and by-laws, formulated on the lines laid out by Rev. Dr. Parkhurst, of New York, were adopted, and an executive committee, composed of twenty-six members, was appointed.

About 500 well-known business men, members of different denominations, and some ladies were in attendance at the organization meeting.

The Australian Election.

MELBOURNE, Sept. 27.—The election for members of parliament, which took place Tuesday, resulted in the return of 28 ministerialists, 54 opposition and 13 independent. Ministers O'Loughlin, Baker and Richardson and Speaker Bent were defeated for reelection. The victors comprise a protectionist party, but the victory is alleged to have been chiefly due to the support of persons in the civil service and malcontents who are irate at Prime Minister Patterson's reduction in salaries and other economies.

A Demand for Universal Suffrage.

VIENNA, Sept. 27.—Members of the social democratic workingmen's party Tuesday evening scattered through the streets leaflets on which were printed a demand for universal suffrage. The police arrested seventy persons engaged in this propaganda.

faculties, have no other motive presented to them than their own good. Yet nothing is clearer than that all these things tend also to their value to others, and this motive should not be overlooked. It is no abstract theory, nor is it difficult so to present it to the young mind and weave it into the young life as to give a higher meaning to all that is done for personal welfare. There is no rigid line between duty to self and duties to others. They melt into each other; they blend and react upon each other, and when the right balance between them is destroyed neither can be perfectly fulfilled. When it comes to be fully recognized that self-care and self-protection are social obligations as well as personal ones, then the duty of self-protection will rest upon each as he looks to the rest of mankind as well as to himself. It is the duty of each to himself, to his family, to his community, to his country, to his race, to his world.
